

CONSENT TO ELECTRONIC DELIVERY OF TRADE CONFIRMATIONS

By electing to stop receiving paper Trade Confirmations, you are agreeing to electronic delivery of these documents. You will continue to receive your Account Statements and other notices, disclosures and other information relating to your account by mail.

We will send your Trade Confirmations by email to a designated email address provided by you. You agree that electronic delivery of these documents will be good delivery to you and will be deemed received by you when sent, whether you actually access or view a particular document. You understand that it is your responsibility to promptly and carefully review any documents sent to you electronically and to immediately notify your account representative of any errors.

By agreeing to electronic delivery, you represent that you have access to a personal computer with Adobe Acrobat Reader and internet access (at your cost). You agree to maintain an email address and to update your designated email address as necessary.

You may withdraw your consent to electronic delivery at any time by submitting a revised consent form and sending to your introducing broker.

You will not incur any additional fees by revoking your consent to electronic delivery.

Please check the appropriate box below and provide the requested information if applicable.
